

Lecturer, Department of Theological Studies, Newbold College of Higher Education, United Kingdom

Newbold College of Higher Education, United Kingdom, seeks to appoint a full-time lecturer within its Department of Theological Studies. The Department is internationally recognised in Seventh-day Adventist Christian circles as being a centre of excellence in biblical, theological and pastoral education. It attracts students from many countries and cultures, and its undergraduate and postgraduate programmes require highly-qualified teaching staff who are able to relate their disciplines to the diversity of the College's constituency.

Applications are invited from women and men with expertise in at least one area offered within the Department (ie Biblical Studies – Old Testament and/or New Testament; Pastoral Studies; or Theological Studies), and with a proven ability to contribute to at least one other discipline. Such applications should demonstrate why the applicant believes that, if appointed, she or he could make a unique and important contribution to the overall provision of the College in general and of the Department in particular.

Selection Criteria

- Relevant successful teaching, research and pastoral experience, and an ability to contribute to blended learning
- A doctoral degree in a relevant subject field, ideally supported by appropriate teaching qualifications
- A demonstrated understanding of current theological developments in the Seventh-day Adventist Church
- A demonstrated understanding of the European context
- Excellent people skills

The successful applicant will be required to perform the following tasks:

- Teach within UK/European and US contexts
- Work according to the Expectations of the UK Quality Code for Higher Education

- Work sensitively in a multicultural environment
- Contribute to the College's processes of Enhancement as understood by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education
- Assume some academic administrative tasks within the Department
- Supervise research at undergraduate and postgraduate levels
- Serve as tutor to a group of tutees
- Maintain an active research and publishing schedule
- Be involved in appropriate student-recruitment activities
- Contribute actively to the wider spiritual and extracurricular life of the College and to the needs of the Seventh-day Adventist Church throughout the Trans-European Division

All applicants must have the right to live and work in the United Kingdom and will normally be expected to live within reasonable commuting distance of the College to enable them to engage fully with the life of the College and of the local church community.

Starting date: September 2018

Salary: As per the denominational salary scale.

A letter of application, a CV and the names and contact details of two referees should be emailed as soon as possible but no later than Friday 9 March 2018 to Debbie McReynolds, Office Manager, Office of the Principal (dmcreynolds@newbold.ac.uk).